Jamming a DriveCam completely

2019/12/10

Hi there, Anon! There is a way how to jam all signals coming from a DriveCam and we at Jammer-Store will try to help you. That device is used to control driver's behaviour behind the wheel. To keep it simple let's just say that it captures video from inside the cabin and in that way controls driver's behaviour. Then the device sends all the gathered data via GPRS or EDGE channel. We've already written how to deal with fleet monitoring devices and DriveCam is definitely one of those! So basically, it uses GSM frequency, because both GPRS and EDGE are just a way to encode and transmit data over the simple GSM standard. It uses same frequencies and same base stations as GSM. Also, some of their devices are able to track the location of the vehicle not only with GPS, but with a cell phone tower triangulation technology. It uses the closest base stations to calculate your raw location. First of all we have to mention the fact that employers tend to spy on their employees and that's why they install such devices. A simple GPS tracker would be enough for fleet monitoring. So, in order to block DriveCam completely you will have to block mobile communications and a portable mobile phone signal jammer will be really useful. Just turn it on and no information will be sent to your employer. Thanks for your question, I hope, I've managed to help!
